GRANTS

	University of Southern California FY 2017 Clinical and Community Research Award
	Title : Men’s demand for novel male contraceptives: community insights
2017-2018	Goal: To understand men’s demand for and willingness to use a novel male contraceptive, examining two unique groups: (1) men with previous experience with sperm suppression in a male contraceptive trial, (2) inexperienced men from the community, with specific examination of minority viewpoints from Black, Hispanic, and Asian men in Los Angeles
	Fellowship Grant from the Society of Family Planning
2014-2016	Title : Male Partner Involvement in Abortion

Goal: To describe the experiences of and expectations for care of male partners of women undergoing elective abortions. This was a mixed methods study, consisting of semi-structured interviews and a survey to determine the role of male partners and their needs for additional clinic or support services.

Petersen Community Enhancement Award

Title: Men's Awareness of and Access to Emergency Contraception

2009-2010 Goal: To determine men's awareness of their ability to obtain emergency contraception via cross-sectional survey in Providence, RI as well as obtain estimates of their purchase of the method. This project also included the survey of pharmacies for refusals to dispense emergency contraception to male clients.
